

BECOME A NETWORKING EXPERT: APPLYING LEADERSHIP SKILLS TO THE ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

FEATURING Gregory S. Campbell Management & Leadership Consultant

Wednesday, May 23, 2012 at 12:00 p.m.

Networking is a critical part of career development in all fields. Communication and leadership skills are essential for the success of any graduate student and postdoctoral scholar. Gregory Campbell returns to UCI to share how the ability to communicate, listen, interpret and lead are applied in the academic and professional experience. This interactive session explores actual case studies and the practical application of the five I's of leadership.

Gregory S. Campbell is a management and leadership consultant. As a part of his practice, Mr. Campbell provides leadership coaching to a number of high profile executives, as well as CEOs, COOs, and university presidents. His focus is on personal and professional growth. Additionally, he assist with strategic thinking and ethical development.

LOCATION: Graduate Resource Center (GRC), Student Center C114

ALL ARE INVITED

Light refreshments will be served

Register at: grc@uci.edu

Questions? Email grc@uci.edu or call 949-824-3849